September 2021 Events @ Whately Public Library

Monday September 6, 2021 Closed for Memorial Day

Tuesday September 7, 2021 Ray Mason 6:30 PM
Ray and his road-worn 1965 Silvertone guitar have been tirelessly touring since 1982. Starting his first band in 1966 and averaging over 100 shows a year, he’s like a teenager with forty-plus years of experience!
During the COVID 19 Pandemic Ray has written several new songs that he is excited to perform here in Whately

Wednesday September 8, 2021 Sarah Clay and the Star Cats 6:00 PM
Whately Town Hall 194 Chestnut Plain Rd Whately
Sarah Clay & the Star Cats perform for the first time in Whately!
Vocalist/flutist Sarah Clay sings in three languages and swings for the fences. Sarah has performed at jazz festivals and concert halls (including Lincoln Center and Carnegie Hall) on both sides of the Atlantic. Known for nuanced expression and crystalline tone, she delivers fresh, playful interpretations of jazz standards, Bossa Nova and American Songbook tunes. And she scats like nobody’s business!
Sponsored in part by a grant from the Whately Cultural Council, a local agency which is supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency & the Friends of the Whately Public Library

Tuesday September 14, 2021 On Silent Wings: The Magic of the Snowy Owl presented by Peter Christoph 6:00 PM
Whately Town Hall 194 Chestnut Plain Rd Whately
First time presenting in Whately!
During the winter of 2013-2014 award-winning Massachusetts wildlife photographer Peter Christoph spent 14 full days along the Atlantic coast following the movements of a few snowy owls a rare irruption to the beaches of Salisbury, Hampton and Plum Island. They flew quite a distance from their home on the frozen tundra in the high Arctic and Peter was there to capture these rare and intimate photographs of the snowy owls taken in their winter habitat. Several of his snowy owl photos have earned national and international awards.
Sponsored by the Friends of Whately Public Library
